The 2007 ENB Funding Proposal – Updated 17 July 2007
BACKGROUND INFORMATION

A Brief History of the Earth Negotiations Bulletin

The Earth Negotiations Bulletin is a balanced, timely and independent reporting service that provides daily information in print and electronic formats from multilateral negotiations on environment and development issues. It is published by the International Institute for Sustainable Development (IISD), a charitable, non-profit organization based in Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada. The offices of the Earth Negotiations Bulletin are based in New York City, two blocks from the United Nations.

The Bulletin is a one-page, two-sided "desktop" publication that is distributed each day to participants at UN negotiations related to environment and development. In addition to the hard-copy version, the Earth Negotiations Bulletin is available in electronic format on international computer networks. At the conclusion of each meeting, the Earth Negotiations Bulletin Team writes and edits a 10,000-18,000-word summary and analysis of the meeting, which is circulated in electronic format. This distribution format enables it to reach a wide range of people interested in environment and development negotiations. Many UN delegates, non-governmental organizations (NGOs) and UN staff who track environment and sustainable development policy consider the Earth Negotiations Bulletin to be essential reading. The Bulletin has received high praise from diplomats, UN staff, government officials, NGOs, the business community, media and the academic community for its objective and comprehensive presentation of the facts.

In the fifteen years that IISD has published the Earth Negotiations Bulletin, electronic mail and the World Wide Web have changed the way that information is gathered and exchanged. During this period, the Earth Negotiations Bulletin staff has developed several derivative electronic products, using the information gathered in the production of the ENB. These new forms of computer-mediated communications have expanded the readership of the Earth Negotiations Bulletin to an estimated 45,000 people worldwide.

A Brief History of IISD Reporting Services

IISD Reporting Services (IISDRS) is a division of the International Institute for Sustainable Development. IISD Reporting Services was established in 1997 to include the growing number of hard copy and electronic (on-line) products created by the staff of the Earth Negotiations Bulletin. These products include:

- The Earth Negotiations Bulletin (our flagship product)
- The Linkages World Wide Web site (containing all of the information gathered by the ENB Team)
- Linkages Update (a fortnightly publication with news on changes to the Linkages web site)
- "Your Meeting" Bulletin (previously called "Sustainable Development")s and ENB On the Side or (our two "for-hire" publications for meetings, workshops, conferences and symposia)¹
- MEA Bulletin published in cooperation and with specific funding from the United Nations Environment Programme Division for Environmental Law and Conventions (DELC). MEA Bulletin is a fortnightly publication with articles on the activities of the various Multilateral Environmental Agreement secretariats, parties and civil society actors involved in the negotiation and implementation of the MEAs.

Earth Negotiations Bulletin Coverage

From 1996 through 2006, the Earth Negotiations Bulletin covered more than 350 meetings, including:

- All sessions of the Preparatory Committee for the World Summit on Sustainable Development, the World Summit on Sustainable Development and all five regional preparatory meetings;
- All sessions of the United Nations Commission on Sustainable Development (CSD) as well as the intersessional ad hoc open-ended working groups, the Intergovernmental Forum on Forests and all sessions of the Intergovernmental Panel on Forests;

- All meetings of the Conferences of the Parties to the Convention on Biological Diversity as well as meetings of the Subsidiary Body on Technical and Technological Advice (SBSTTA), the Ad Hoc Working Group on Biosafety and the meetings of the Intergovernmental Committee on the Cartagena Protocol (ICCP);
- Meetings of the Commission on Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture and Extraordinary Sessions of the Commission;
- Meetings of the Commission on Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture acting as the Interim Committee for the International Treaty on Plant Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture;
- The Five-Year Review the Fourth World Conference on Women (Beijing +5);

All of the Meetings of the Conference of the Parties to the Framework Convention on Climate Change as well as meetings of the Ad Hoc Group on the Berlin Mandate and Subsidiary Bodies to the Framework Convention on Climate Change (SBI, Article 13 and SBSTA);
The Second, Third and Fourth Meetings of the Intergovernmental Forum on Chemical Safety (IFCS);
All meetings (and Diplomatic Conferences) of the Intergovernmental Negotiating Committee for the Preparation of an International Legally-binding Instrument for the Application of the Prior Informed Consent Procedure for Certain Hazardous Chemicals in International Trade (Rotterdam Convention);
All sessions of the Intergovernmental Negotiating Committee for an International Legally Binding Instrument for Implementing International Action on Certain Persistent Organic Pollutants (POPS) (Stockholm Convention);
The Sessions of the Contracting Parties to the Convention on Wetlands (Ramsar);
The Sessions of the UNEP Governing Council and the Special Sessions of the UNEP Governing Council;

The Meetings of the Conference of the Parties to the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species (CITES) and meetings of the Animals Committee and the Plants Committee.

At each of the above meetings the Earth Negotiations Bulletin team published summaries of the proceedings that were distributed to the participants. These summary issues were e-mailed to the ENB mailing list of sustainable development decision-makers throughout the world. In addition, the Earth Negotiations Bulletin team members "uploaded" issues into international computer networks. At many of the larger meetings the team members wrote, edited and desktop published daily issues that provided day-by-day accounts of the official negotiation processes.

Electronic Products
The Linkages World Wide Web site http://www.iisd.ca/ was created in 1994 as a multimedia resource for environment and development decision-makers. This site includes all of the digital versions of the Earth Negotiations Bulletin reports in a freely accessible on-line archive. In addition, this site provides links to other relevant sites and official documents and includes photos and RealAudio recordings of speeches. In the nine years that Linkages has been available on the Internet, millions of visitors have downloaded over 120 gigabits of information. In 1995 the Earth Negotiations Bulletin staff launched Linkages Journal, a monthly publication in PDF format that was available by electronic mail and through the Linkages WWW site. Linkages Journal was replaced by Linkages Update in 2002.

The Grantee: The International Institute for Sustainable Development

To be sustainable, development must improve economic efficiency, protect and restore ecological systems and enhance the well-being of people. This is today's agenda, not a far-off goal. It means that business as usual is no longer an option for government, private enterprises, communities or individuals.

The mission of the International Institute for Sustainable Development (IISD) is to promote sustainable development in decision-making internationally and within Canada. We contribute new knowledge and concepts, analyze policies, identify and disseminate information about best practices, demonstrate how to measure progress, and build partnerships to amplify these messages.

Our audiences and clients are businesses, governments, communities and concerned individuals. Through Internet communications, working groups and project activities we create networks designed to move sustainable development from concept to practice. Action must address the differing views and needs of developing and industrialized nations. IISD bridges these concerns in its six strategic objective areas and through its international board.

IISD was established in 1990 with continuing financial support from Environment Canada, CIDA and the Province of Manitoba. It also receives revenue from foundations and other private sector sources. The institute is registered as a charitable organization in Canada and a 501(c)(3) tax-exempt, non-profit corporation in the United States.

Linkages WWW Site – http://www.iisd.ca
IISD will maintain the Linkages World Wide Web site and upload copies of meetings reports, digital photos, audio interviews and information gathered by the Earth Negotiations Bulletin team at meetings and otherwise. The Linkages Web site team tracks the following issue areas:

- Sustainable Development
- Biodiversity & Wildlife
- Chemicals Management
- Climate & Atmosphere
- Forests, Deserts, Land
- Human Development
- Intergovernmental Orgs
- Trade & Investment
- Water, Wetlands, Coasts
Linkages Update

Linkages Update is an e-mail distributed web page that notes updates and recent changes to the Linkages Web site. This publication has information on recent and upcoming meetings on the sustainable development calendar, as well as breaking news stories, links to copies of our own reports and the comings and goings in the environment and sustainable development community. Linkages Update is our most widely distributed publication, reaching an estimated audience of 45,000 readers in primary and secondary distribution.

IISD will publish 20 fortnightly issues per year of Linkages Update. These will be distributed in electronic format to lists in HTML-enabled mail format.

Electronic Mailing Lists

Using the powerful Lyris list-processing software, IISD provides the moderation and electronic infrastructure for several peer-to-peer announcement lists on sustainable development issues. These lists allow thousands of subscribing members of these virtual communities to share information on upcoming meetings, recent publications, updates to members’ websites, availability of documentation for negotiations and news of professional vacancies. IISD Reporting Services maintain the following free lists:

CLIMATE-L: In cooperation with the UNFCCC Secretariat, IISD moderates and maintains the CLIMATE-L list linking all sections of the international climate change community. This announcement list reaches an estimated 25,000 readers worldwide, providing an electronic information dissemination tool for hundreds of organizations, UN bodies and governments to circulate information on their activities. IISD publishes, CLIMATE-L News, a fortnightly review of international news stories on climate change to the CLIMATE-L subscribers.

WATER-L: IISD, in collaboration with the World Water Council and the Secretariat for the 3rd World Water Forum, inaugurated a new announcement list, WATER-L, in February 2003. This list, which now reaches an audience of approximately 10,000 readers, links members of the “water community” through distributed e-mail announcements.
FORESTS-L: This list, created in collaboration with the United Nations Forum on Forests (UNFF) Secretariat, was launched in May 2003. FORESTSL links members of the forest policy community in a common forum for the exchange of information, announcements, best practices, upcoming meetings and the availability of academic and scientific research.

CHEMICALS-L: Together with UNEP Chemicals, IIID has created this peer-to-peer list to server the international chemicals management community. This list will be used for announcements related to the Intergovernmental Forum on Chemical Safety (IFCS), the Strategic Approach to International Chemicals Management (SAICM), the Stockholm Convention (POPS) and the Rotterdam Convention (PIC).

OCEANS-L: OCEANS-L is a mailing list for news and announcements related to international ocean policy. Postings include oceans policy news, announcements of workshops/conferences, job listings, and information on new publications and online resources. Oceans-L is brought to you by IIID, in cooperation with the Global Forum on Oceans, Coasts, and Islands.

Specific Issue Areas to be Covered by the Earth Negotiations Bulletin in 2007

During 2007 the Earth Negotiations Bulletin will continue to publish at meetings in the subject areas that we have covered in the past. These subject areas include negotiating processes within the following areas:

- The United Nations Convention to Combat Desertification;
- The United Nations Commission on Sustainable Development;
- The Convention on Biological Diversity and the Cartagena Protocol;
- The United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change;
- The Rotterdam Convention on the Prior Informed Consent Procedure for Certain Hazardous Chemicals and Pesticides in International Trade;
- The Intergovernmental Negotiating Committee for an international legally binding instrument for implementing international action on certain persistent organic pollutants (POPS) (Stockholm Convention);
- The Intergovernmental Forum on Chemical Safety (IFCS);
- The United Nations Forum on Forests;
- The Convention on Wetlands;
- The Convention on Migratory Species;
- The Montreal Protocol;
- The Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species (CITES);
- The International Tropical Timber Council (ITTC) and the Negotiation of a Successor Agreement to the International Tropical Timber Agreement (ITTA), 1994;
- The International Treaty on Plant Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture;
- The Informal Consultative Process on Oceans and Law of the Sea (UNICPOLOS);
- United Nations Law of the Sea – Biodiversity in Areas Outside of National Jurisdiction and the UN Fish Stocks Agreement
- Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC);
- The United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP) Governing Council and Global Ministerial Environmental Forum (GMEF)
- Basel Convention on the Control of Transboundary Movements of Hazardous Wastes and Their Disposal

In addition to covering the above negotiation processes, in FY 2006-2007 the Earth Negotiations Bulletin will also provide coverage of the side events at the two sessional meetings of the UNFCCC.

Production of the Earth Negotiations Bulletin

At each meeting covered by the Earth Negotiations Bulletin, a team of writers/editors is assembled at the meeting site. For meetings held at UN Headquarters in New York, we use the ENB office, two blocks from the UN as our base. At meetings outside of New York we set up an office in a hotel room near to the meeting site. The ENB team attends the formal and informal sessions of the negotiations, where they take notes on laptop computers and talk with the delegates. At the conclusion of each day's session, the ENB team assembles, writes and edits the comprehensive report of the meeting that day (2000 words). The final print copy is sent off to be photocopied overnight. Each issue is uploaded to our WWW site, Linkages at http://www.iisd.ca, and to several automatic electronic mail distribution systems. The hard-copy version of the Earth Negotiations Bulletin is tabled at the negotiations each morning and approximately 500 copies each day are distributed to NGOs, delegates, the media and UN staff. Simultaneous translations of the English version of the Earth Negotiations Bulletin are provided daily in Spanish and French with copies distributed on site and electronically.

At the conclusion of each meeting, the Earth Negotiations Bulletin team assembles a summary report of the negotiations. This summary is usually from eight to fifteen pages and includes a detailed account of the work of the Conference, Commission or Committee, an analysis of the progress made (or lack thereof), a summary of upcoming activities and contact addresses for more information. This summary is mailed out to the United Nations missions in New York and sent by e-mail to approximately 45,000 readers worldwide.

It is likely that additional environment and development meetings and/or conferences will be added to the UN calendar in the coming months or shifted from year to year. In that case, the plan of activities for the Earth Negotiations Bulletin during the period covered by this proposal may be altered to reflect the shifting UN calendar.

Key relationships with other institutions and agencies

The Earth Negotiations Bulletin maintains excellent relationships with the various Secretariats and United Nations agencies responsible for the organization and planning of the events to be covered.

The Earth Negotiations Bulletin does not participate in meetings as a non-governmental organization or as media. At all sessions where we provide coverage we are accredited to participate as Staff or Affiliates of the Secretariat. This ensures that our team of writers and editors will have unrestricted access to meetings and delegates. This access is essential to ensure that the information we provide is “first hand” and unbiased by hearsay. This status is a precondition for the participation of the Earth Negotiations Bulletin at any negotiation.
The Earth Negotiations Bulletin has received support over the last years from several United Nations agencies, including UNEP, UNDP, FAO, UNIFEM, UNFPA and UNICEF. In addition the Earth Negotiations Bulletin maintains supportive and collaborative relationships with the non-governmental organization community. NGOs regularly use the Earth Negotiations Bulletin as a source of information in planning lobbying strategies and monitoring the statements of governments during UN negotiations. Developing and developed country NGOs regularly use portions of the Earth Negotiations Bulletin in their own publications and the Earth Negotiations Bulletin is placed in NGO computer networks.

Communications Plan

The Earth Negotiations Bulletin will continue to use a varied communication strategy to reach government delegates, NGOs, UN agency staff and the media using three delivery streams:

1) Daily distribution of hard-copy desktop-published issues;
2) "Real-time" distribution in electronic format using the Internet and electronic delivery systems; and

Daily distribution: After each issue is desktop published, a sufficient number (usually 500 copies) are photocopied for distribution the following morning of the Conference, Committee or Commission. Copies are placed in the meeting rooms for NGOs and delegates before the start of official proceedings. In addition, copies of the ENB are placed at the back of each negotiating chamber. The Bulletins are placed in regular locations and it is not uncommon for delegates to make the Earth Negotiations Bulletin the first piece of information they read each morning or the first thing that they fax back to their capital.

Electronic delivery service: The Earth Negotiations Bulletin is distributed by an automatic mailing program to any electronic mail address anywhere in the world, moments after we finish each issue. We distribute the ENB in two formats directly to one’s e-mail box: 1) A text version (called “ASCII”) that can be read by any computer; 2) A special graphic version using the Adobe Acrobat “Portable Document Format (PDF)” that allows the reader to print out the ENB exactly as it is distributed at the negotiations each morning.

To subscribe to the Earth Negotiations Bulletin and/or any of our electronic products on-line, visit:

http://iisd.ca/enb/email.asp

World Wide Web: The Earth Negotiations Bulletin has its own World Wide Web server called Linkages: A Multimedia Resource for Environment and Development Policy Makers. In order to visit our Web site you will need a browser like Internet Explorer or Netscape. Our WWW server is located at:

http://www.iisd.ca

For each meeting we attend, the ENB staff posts digital photos and links to relevant documentation.

In one spot on the Internet you can find: the most up-to-date information on past and upcoming meetings; a hypertext searchable index to all the issues of the Earth Negotiations Bulletin; links to the official UN documents stored on the UN computers for each meeting; full-text versions of selected interventions; NGO, UN and government position papers; background documents to the issues under discussion; and photos. In the ten years that Linkages has been on the Internet, it has had several million file accesses from more than 90 countries. Users include representatives from development and environment ministries, UN missions in New York and Geneva, UN agencies like UNDP, UNEP and FAO, NGOs and academic institutions.

Our e-mail address: You can always send e-mail directly to us at enb@iisd.org or to the Director of IISD Reporting Services, at kimo@iisd.org. If you would like to make arrangements for the Earth Negotiations Bulletin to be electronically distributed within your organization, contact us for details. We always like to hear about ways that the ENB is being used and receive feedback from our readers around the world.

Linkages Website and Linkages Update Costs

The Earth Negotiations Bulletin team, while attending dozens of meetings each year, actively collects information on environment and sustainable development meetings, events, workshops, gatherings and conferences. The intelligence gathered at each of these meetings is collected by the Editor of the Linkages Web site and posted to http://www.iisd.ca.

Seven of the ENB team members also participate in gathering information for the Linkages WWW site between meetings as part of our team of Issue Cluster Experts. These writers provide consultancy services to IISD, gathering information on upcoming meetings, recent events and the comings and goings within the sustainable development community. The Editor of Linkages Web site publishes a fortnightly compilation of links called Linkages Update. This HTML-enabled mail product draws more than 45,000 readers back to the Linkages Web site. The costs of providing the information on the Linkages WWW site will be US$177,864.00 in 2007, including the annual salary of the Editor of the Linkages site and the consultancy fees for the seven Issue Cluster Experts.

PROJECT REVENUE

Funding Objectives and Strategy in 2007

The Earth Negotiations Bulletin has three funding objectives in 2007:

- to raise no less than US$1,881,004.81 during 2007;
- to increase the number of our long-range, multi-year funding commitments; and
- to expand our fundraising base to private foundations and corporate sponsors.

The Earth Negotiations Bulletin has successfully raised almost twelve million dollars during the last thirteen years from more than forty different donors. Our initial funding in 1992-1993 came from private foundations (The MacArthur Foundation and the Pew Charitable Trusts) and the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP). From 1994 to today, the Earth Negotiations Bulletin funding mix has shifted to grants from government ministries and intergovernmental or specialized agencies.

Sustaining Donors (US$100,000 or more per year in a continuing relationship): In 2006 the Earth Negotiations Bulletin was funded by eight Sustaining Donors (US$100,000 or more): Canada, the United States, the Netherlands, the United Kingdom, Denmark, Germany, the European Commission and Italy (one less than in 2005.) It is our intention to renew the Government of Switzerland’s contribution as a Sustaining Donor and increase to ten Sustaining Donors in 2007.

General Supporter (more than US$35,000 per year): In 2006 the ENB raised more than US$454,000 in contributions ranging from US$35,000 to US$70,000. In 2002 the lower threshold for qualification for General Supporter was raised to US$35,000. In 2007 we are asking our donors to renew their commitments at or above the US$35,000 minimum.

Specific Supporters (less than US$25,000 per year): This level includes smaller contributions to support coverage of individual meetings and travel and per diem contributions from convention secretariats.
